

Wycombe kicked off their pre-season campaign with a practice match against Brighton & Hove Albion at the Seagulls' training base on Saturday afternoon, fielding a different XI in each half.

Brighton showed their Premier League class with four clinical strikes from Danny Welbeck in the first period, with Armando Junior Quitirna netting for the Blues with a cool finish after winning possession high up the pitch.

The hosts added two more in the second period through Facundo Buonanotte and Charlie Tasker, while Dan Udoh went close for Wycombe and Will Norris produced a series of superb saves at the other end.

Wanderers' first friendly in front of supporters takes place at Sutton United on Tuesday evening.
