

Wycombe Wanderers have landed striker Cauley Woodrow on a season-long loan deal from Luton Town, with the 30-year-old completing his move on deadline day.

Woodrow averaged a goal every other game during his last spell in League One with Barnsley and has more recently experienced Premier League and Championship football with the Hatters, as well as spending time on loan with Blackburn last season.

Having started his career with Luton, he earned a move to Premier League side Fulham in his teens and embarked on a series of loan moves, including a prolific spell at Barnsley which was made permanent after helping them clinch promotion to the Championship.

With 61 goal contributions in 237 appearances in total in the second tier, Cauley now begins a new adventure with the Chairboys and linked up with his new team-mates at Marlow Road on Monday.

Head Coach Mike Dodds commented: "It's great to bring someone of Cauley's experience and calibre to the club and we're really pleased to add his strength to our frontline.

"We've amongst the top teams in the division for creating chances and taking touches in the opposition box so far this season and we're confident that Cauley can thrive in this system and add more goals to our game."

Director of Football Strategy and Data Intelligence Tom Stockwell added: "Cauley is an experienced striker with a track record of scoring in League One and Championship football. He is a clean and tidy technical player who we can play into and link with in attacking transition.

"The team is progressing the ball into the opposition box as well as anyone; we need the cutting edge and we believe Cauley will add this. He made it very clear that he is hungry and ready to help the club and wants to be here. We look forward to seeing him in a Wycombe shirt and he should be available for selection for the Mansfield game next Saturday."
